

One of the most interesting collections yet contemplated by the Art Association is that of the loan exhibit which will be given at the Propylaum, beginning Tuesday, the 6th of February, and continuing through the 11th. The exhibit will be of articles artistic and historic, and the committee, which is a large one, is searching diligently for rare and curious treasures, and they are meeting with great success. Householders of older years seldom fail to have something interesting and odd, either on their cabinets or tucked away in some closet or box. These are just the articles the committee most desire in order to make the exhibit as attractive and unique as possible. The loan exhibits given in other large cities have been among the greatest shows of the season, and have drawn the greatest patronage. The members of the Art Association have frequently discussed the matter of a loan exhibit when making out their yearly programmes, but never until this year has it seemed exactly feasible. As the exhibit is to be open to the public, no doubt there are many who enjoy the uncommon products of this and other times, and who will be glad that at last the charm of a loan exhibit is to be open to them. The commit-tee includes Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dean, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Mansur, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shaffer, Colonel and Mrs. Eli Lilly, Mrs. Clarence Wulsin, Miss Julia Sharpe and Mrs. Ernest Robert Keith.

The indications are that the invitational reception Wednesday night, at Tomlinson Hall, will be one of the most brilliant social events of the season. It will be tendered by the Board of Trade, Commercial Club and Bar Association to the members of the General Assembly and State officers. It is strictly an invitational affair, and outside of the complimentary guests the list of invitations is confined to the members of the three bodies acting as hosts. These three organizations and the city will be represented by a receiving party consisting of Hon. Thomas L. Sullivan, Mayor; Mr. John W. Murphy, president of the Board of Trade; Col. Eli Lilly, president of the Commercial Club, and Mr. Silas M. Shepard, president of the Bar Association. The receiving party will be assisted in extending the hospitality of the occasion by a reception committee of ladies and gentlemen. The hall will be profusely decorated for the occasion with the national colors appropriately draped and with plants and flowers. The large stage will be arranged for a refreshment-room, where ices, punch, coffee and other refreshments will be served. ments will be served.

A brass band of twenty-one pieces will furnish the music for the promenade reception, from 8 to:10 o'clock. After 10 o'clock there will be dancing, and a string orchestra of twenty-one pieces will furnish the best of music. Carriages arriving will approach the Market-street entrance from Delaware street and proceed eastward. The carriages departing will approach from Alabama street and proceed westward on Market street.

be bedfast on account of the accident several weeks yet. The many friends of Miss Ruth Winter-botham will be glad to hear of her return for a short time to the city, she being busily engaged in designing some work for the national women's building for the world's fair, which the United States Encaustic-tile Company is burning for her. Since Miss Winterbotham left here she has been busy doing work for the Wisconsin State building, besides private commissions. The high artistic merit of her work for the United States Encaustic-tile Company, when here was such as to bring forth flattering mention in the Popular Science Monthly, and the reproduction of some of her designs in the article. She will leave here for the South, where she will spend the winter traveling.
